Message From The CEO

Issue 2 Vol 3 JUL 2011

Dato' Tajuddin Atan

Since coming on board as the CEO of Bursa Malaysia in April 2011, I have worked closely with the team to crystallise the vision I have for Bursa Malaysia which is to create, deliver and capture value for the capital market. My mandate as the chief executive officer of the Exchange is to enhance the capital market's position as a destination of choice for listings and investments. The goal is to make the capital market more attractive and vibrant.

As of 1 July 2011, we have seen 18 new listings on our markets. This is almost two thirds the total number of listings of 29 IPOs last year, and I certainly hope to see more companies come to list before the end of the year. This demonstrates that the Malaysian capital market still provides issuers a sound platform for fund-raising activities. Notwithstanding the companies that are eagerly awaiting to list, we also have an attractive stable of listed companies that show sound earnings and growth plans, some of which have been featured at invest conferences such as Invest Malaysia in Kuala Lumpur, Market Chat and Talk Futures retail roadshows, and Malaysia GEMS in Singapore.

We have also, very recently, been elevated to Advanced Emerging market status from Secondary Emerging market status in the FTSE Global Equity Index Series, which took effect on 20 June 2011. This new status will raise the country's profile further as FTSE is a major indexing group. Malaysia's weightage on the MSCI Emerging Market's and MSCI All-Country Asia ex-Japan indices has also risen in June. As fund managers re-evaluate their portfolios for the second half of the year, I believe that Malaysia will be able to attract more investments from global investors.

At the same time, we are working towards ensuring that our market exhibits strong corporate governance, which is underscored by sound investor protection. This is a key criteria in attracting global funds. Bursa Malaysia is highly committed towards ensuring that our market remains a market of integrity and quality, with investor protection being the main priority. We put strong emphasis on the good practice of corporate governance and this is demonstrated in our regulatory approach which focuses on regulating for sustainable market growth.

In order to galvanise more participation in both the securities and derivatives markets, Bursa Malaysia welcomes the effort to allow securities remisers and dealers who have the necessary experience to fast-track into dual licensing for the derivatives market. This would allow cross-selling of opportunities in both the securities and derivatives market, building the intermediaries segment and consequentially, growing the derivatives market further.

All these initiatives and developments reiterate our commitment to spur the vibrancy of the Malaysian capital market. Our fundamentals are intact and our companies continue to provide positive returns for investors, underscored by a dynamic economy. I believe there has never been a better time to invest and be part of this exciting Emerging Market.

Invest Malaysia 2011 Kuala Lumpur Conference- Redefining Investors' Perspective on Malaysia

“Capital Market Masterplan Two (CMP2), the successor of CMP1 that was launched a decade ago, aims to further unlock the potential of capital market”

The seventh Invest Malaysia Kuala Lumpur was held on 12-13 April. Amid setting a new tone for Invest Malaysia to positively change investors' perspective on Malaysia, the organisers of the conference, Bursa Malaysia, Maybank Investment Bank and Malaysian Industrial Development Authority (MIDA), were delighted with the record number of nearly 875 fund managers representing Assets Under Management (AUM) of over USD8 trillion. This included, for the first-time, the China Qualified Domestic Institutional Investor (QDII) fund managers. Total number of delegates in attendance was 2,266.

Dato' Tajuddin Atan, Chief Executive Officer of Bursa Malaysia Berhad said, “We are pleased with the record attendance and turnout of funds represented at Invest Malaysia as this sends a very strong signal for the growth of Malaysia's capital market. The feedback we received from fund managers and investors were very encouraging, as they recognised the Government's efforts in bringing about reform and transformation as catalysts for growth.”

“We are also delighted with the investment interest received from fund managers and especially those from the Republic of China, who are here for the first-time since Malaysia was accorded QDII status in June 2010.”

Invest Malaysia 2011: Powering Global Excellence

Over 450 meeting requests were filled via private business meetings with foreign fund managers over the two days with a focus on facilitating investment opportunities. 31 Malaysian companies were profiled with a market value of RM540 billion representing 42% of the total market capitalisation of Bursa Malaysia, including corporates from the oil & gas, property, services, airline and infrastructure sectors.

Invest Malaysia 2011 Kuala Lumpur also saw the announcement by Xinhua to make Malaysia their ASEAN hub and the launch of their Xinhua08 Malaysia webpage as a window for Chinese readers to receive up-to-date business and financial news on Malaysia and ASEAN.

The Prime Minister, Dato' Seri Mohd Najib Tun Razak, set the tone for the conference by clarifying the path that Malaysia's transformational initiatives are taking to reach the nation's GNI goals. Notable announcements made from the conference include the listing of Felda's sugar refinery arm, the launch of the Capital Market Masterplan 2 (CMP2), TalentCorp programmes for maintaining top foreign talent and luring back top Malaysian talent overseas. These developments were very well received by fund managers as definitive steps towards transforming the country to a high income economy.

INVEST MALAYSIA NEW YORK

Invest Malaysia New York (IMNY) was held on 17-18 May 2011, in conjunction with the Prime Minister's visit to New York. The event garnered a good turnout with 87 US investors attending.

IMNY was held with the aim of attracting new investors and key influencers in the market, and promoting the "Change Perspective" theme in Malaysia's transformation story.

The event was jointly organised by Bursa Malaysia, NYSE Euronext, J.P. Morgan, CIMB Investment Bank, Maybank Investment Bank and the Malaysian Industrial Development Authority (MIDA).

On the first day of IMNY, the Prime Minister delivered his speech to an audience of about 300 people and shared 10 reasons why US investors should invest in Malaysia. The first day of the event was held at the NYSE Euronext.

The event also saw an engaging panel discussion, featuring MIDA, the Securities Commission and Khazanah Nasional on Malaysia's Economic Transformation Programme and its project updates. Ten renowned Malaysian corporates were showcased in one-on-one or small group meetings over the two days, and echoed the "Change Perspective" theme in Malaysia's transformation story.

MALAYSIA NOW ON FTSE ADVANCED EMERGING MARKET

Bursa Malaysia was elevated to Advanced Emerging market status from Secondary Emerging market status in the FTSE Global Equity Index Series on 20 June 2011.

Global index provider FTSE Group first announced Malaysia's progression to the FTSE Advanced Emerging Market in September last year after the country met the "Quality of Markets Assessment" criteria for the category. Malaysia now joins Brazil, Czech Republic, Hungary, Mexico, Poland, South Africa, Taiwan and Turkey in the Advanced Emerging market category.

Malaysia joined the FTSE Watch List for possible inclusion in the Advanced Emerging market status in 2009 when FTSE announced the results of its Country Classification Annual Review in September 2009.

Please refer to FTSE Country Classification updates on FTSE's website.

MALAYSIA GEMS 2011

Bursa Malaysia collaborated with ShareInvestor, the financial internet media and technology company and a subsidiary of Singapore Press Holdings (SPH), and SPH's business daily, The Business Times, to organise Malaysia GEMS 2011. The event was held on Saturday, 18 June 2011 at the DBS Auditorium in Singapore.

Malaysia GEMS is a cross-border investor roadshow that showcases the investment merits of Malaysia's public-listed companies. This year, senior management from eight companies in industries ranging from oil and gas, construction and property development to healthcare made presentations on their companies' investment prospects.

During the one-day event, analysts from Maybank Investment Bank and CIMB Investment Bank discussed the prospects of Malaysia's economy, quality investment recommendations and the industries linked to Malaysia's economic transformation programmes. This event follows from the success of last year's Malaysia GEMS 2010 which attracted more than 450 participants.

Dato' Tajuddin Atan, Chief Executive Officer of Bursa Malaysia said, "The past year and a half has been an exciting one for Malaysia. The development from the New Economic Model and the Economic Transformation Programme will see a multiplier effect in several key sectors such as construction, property, commodity, and financial services, among others. Through Malaysia GEMS 2011, investors in Singapore will hear first-hand news/updates from selected companies about their vision and long-term growth plans. These are some of the companies that are in sectors that will benefit from Malaysia's transformation programme."

DERIVATIVES SALES FORCE EXPECTED TO DOUBLE WITHIN A YEAR WITH FAST TRACK PROGRAMME FOR DUAL LICENSEES

This quarter saw an exciting development within the derivatives ecosystem. The dual licensing fast track programme was announced by our Prime Minister at the renowned Invest Malaysia 2011 conference in April 2011. Securities brokers (dealer representatives) with at least 10 years experience can now trade futures contracts without the need to undertake a separate futures broker licensing examination. There are potentially 2,500 dealer representatives who are qualified for this fast track programme.

Interested securities brokers can join the fast track programme which is a four-day programme jointly organised by the Securities Industry Development Corporation (SIDC) and Bursa Malaysia Derivatives (BMD). The programme was introduced in the Klang Valley in June 2011 and will expand to other locations in the future.

Dealer representatives will benefit from having a dual license especially since they are already trading on the FBM KLCI stocks. Now, they will be able to add FKLI Futures and Single Stock Futures in their clients' portfolio and capitalise on the hedging and arbitraging opportunities available in the derivatives market.

There are currently 583 dual licensees and we expect to double this number to 1,000 within a year. To-date, seats for the fast track programme are already fully booked until December 2011. Interested dealers can obtain further information from the SIDC website.

DERIVATIVES ENJOY RECORD VOLUMES AND OPEN INTEREST

2011 has been a record breaking year for BMD contracts, surpassing our previous and current year highs in terms of daily and monthly contracts as well as open interest. The migration of BMD's products onto CME's Globex® Trading Platform has resulted in enhanced accessibility and visibility, attracting new clients and increasing volume base for existing ones.

Our futures accounts have grown from 35,000 in September 2010 to 40,470 accounts in June 2011, a 16% increase. Our Average Daily Volume (ADV) has grown significantly by 39% this year (YTD June 2011) to an ADV of 34,478 contracts June 2011 compared to an ADV of 24,818 contracts in 2010.

Our latest record highs are as follows:

Description	5 July 2011	31 March 2011	24 February 2011
FCPO open Interest High	125,009	-	-
FCPO Monthly High (Total Contracts)	-	619,326	-
All Derivatives Monthly High (Total Contracts)	-	856,791	-
FCPO Daily High (No. of Contracts)	-	-	48,704
All Derivatives Daily High (No. of Contracts)	-	-	74,014

The increase in open interest indicates sustained interest in FCPO contracts by market players, predominantly from Malaysia, US, Europe, as well as Singapore. The Exchange also noted an increase in participation of institutional traders to 42% in June 2011 following our migration onto the CME Globex® trading platform in September 2010, compared to 38% before the migration. Our categories of traders include Refiners, Hedge Funds and Food Processors from US, Europe and Singapore.

The overall increase in open interest, volumes and foreign participation augurs well for Malaysia. This is a positive signal and provides early signs of validation for the globalisation path that Malaysia has chosen for the derivatives industry.

MARKET HIGHLIGHTS

VISIT TO CME

The Chairman of Bursa Malaysia and Bursa Malaysia Derivatives (BMD), Tun Mohamed Dzaiddin Hj Abdullah and Dato' Tajuddin Atan respectively, visited our strategic partner, the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (CME) on 20 May 2011.

At CME, both Tun Dzaiddin and Dato' Tajuddin had an interesting session with Leo Melamed, Chairman Emeritus of CME Group, or better known as the 'Father of Financial Futures'. Leo gave an insight on how CME markets operated during the crisis of October 1987. He shared that for every financial crisis that has taken place, no exchange traded derivative contract had ever defaulted.

At the Globex® Control Centre (GCC), the Bursa Malaysia delegation witnessed the uniqueness of the order matching of the Application Service Provider model being done thousands of miles away. They were comforted to see that the BMD trading at the GCC and technology operations at CME Technology Operations Control Centre were in the good hands of CME.

FOREIGN PLAYERS AND MARKETS

With a global trading infrastructure in place, we continue our search for foreign players and markets including foreign financial institutions, hedge funds, commodity funds, proprietary trading shops and algorithm traders to trade on BMD products.

In April 2011, BMD conducted a market awareness programme in four cities in China namely Shanghai, Beijing, Hangzhou and Guangzhou, which was well attended by the Dalian Commodity Exchange (DCE) broker members and end clients. This programme was supported by DCE, CME and OSK Investment Bank. We will continue to have close collaboration with DCE and the Chinese regulators to promote BMD and its products in China, to prepare for the possibility of opening of the Chinese markets to trade all global derivative products.

Another roadshow was also held with CME and our Trading Participants in Brewery London from 7-8 June 2011 at the International Derivatives Expo to promote BMD and its products.

Malaysian Investor Relations Association Berhad (MIRA) is a company limited by guarantee established by Bursa Malaysia to promote the good practice of investor relations by public-listed companies.

INTERVIEW WITH GEORGE STEWART LABROOY, CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER/EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF AXIS REIT MANAGERS BERHAD CONDUCTED BY MIRA

Axis-REIT was the first Real Estate Investment Trust (“REIT”) to list on Bursa Malaysia Securities Berhad on 3 August 2005. On 11 December 2008, Axis-REIT was reclassified as an Islamic REIT.

The fund is the largest public-listed Office/Industrial REITs with 4,290,000 square feet of space under management spread over 27 properties and five asset classes. Its assets are well located, of high quality and well diversified in terms of tenants origin and businesses.

MIRA recently conducted an interview with George Stewart LaBrooy, Chief Executive Officer/Executive Director of Axis REIT Managers Berhad. Sharing his views on investor relations, LaBrooy said “We have always maintained a policy of continuous disclosure to our participating funds, fund managers and analysts. We hold regular one-on-one meetings and conference calls with the fund managers, analysts and unit-holders to disseminate information. This bodes well with our corporate culture of having an effective corporate governance framework.”

Below is an excerpt of the interview with George Stewart LaBrooy:

As the CEO of the company, what are the important attributes you look for in your staff? In your view, what motivate a person to excel?

I look for three things in the staff I employ:

- Attitude
- Integrity
- Ability

People excel when they are given clear goals, given the tools to achieve them and are rewarded upon success. If they fail, they should be encouraged to pick themselves up and keep trying.

How would you describe your style of management?

I work with a flat management structure with a small team of key managers reporting to me. I am focussed on building a strong team, training them and sharing the company’s strategic direction and goals with both the senior and junior managers so that everyone knows what is happening in the organisation. Staff productivity is a key metric we measure in the way we do business and we invest in technology to ensure that all staff are increasing their productivity annually.

I abhor politics and keep an open door policy with all staff within the organisation. The more successful they are, the more successful the company becomes.

What is the most challenging aspect of being the CEO of the company and in your view, what skills/knowledge are important when faced with challenges?

Keeping our growth trajectory is challenging and very demanding. We have to be extremely proactive as an asset manager to ensure our buildings are well presented and that all tenants are happy and occupancy rate remains high.

CORPORATE ACCESS

Up close and personal with Mr. LaBrooy

In addition, we have to be constantly looking into careful capital management of our finances and capital structure and maintaining a strong investor relations component in our business.

Lastly, getting the best people in the business to work for you is also a challenge. I have found that my engineering background has been very useful in my career as it teaches me to be analytical and at the same time, look for solutions that work. We fix things and manage crisis very well.

What is your golden rule of life?

“Treat others as you want to be treated”.

RAISING THE CSR BAR IN MALAYSIA

by CSR ASIA

The role and visibility of corporate social responsibility (CSR) has grown steadily among public-listed companies (PLCs) in Malaysia. Over the years, Bursa Malaysia has played an important role in this with the launch of the CSR framework and mandatory requirement for companies to report on their CSR performance. Both initiatives have resulted in higher quality CSR and disclosure by Malaysian PLCs.

In 2010, Bursa Malaysia launched the Business Sustainability Programme to encourage directors to embed sustainable business practices in their operations. In 2012, Bursa Malaysia will launch an Environment, Social and Governance (ESG) index.

For Malaysian PLCs preparing for ESG Index, here are some tips to consider.

Driven from the top: One clear sign that CSR is embedded in a company is that the highest decision making body understands the business case for CSR. The domino effect of integrating CSR at an organisation's highest level will change the way an entire organisation operates, its priorities, performance, employees' morale and time spent on engagement with stakeholders.

Integrate CSR into corporate vision: Contrary to popular belief, a CSR strategy is not dissociated from a company's corporate vision. A CSR strategy should help a company attain its vision in a responsible manner through understanding and managing reputational risks and mitigating negative impacts.

Understanding materiality: Only by understanding what is considered "material" will a company recognise its non-financial risk, and where and on whom its business impacts. Understanding materiality provides a starting point to develop a CSR strategy, programmes that are integrated throughout business operations, and a clearer perspective of which stakeholders with whom to engage.

Measure change: The Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) has a saying that encapsulates the importance of measuring changes and impacts of CSR strategy: "What you cannot measure, you cannot manage. What you cannot manage, you cannot change!"

Malaysian PLCs can learn more about all these tools and knowledge to be discussed at the upcoming CSR Asia Summit 2011. In its ninth year, the Summit will be held in Kuala Lumpur from 27–28 September 2011, and welcomes attendees from companies in the Asia-Pacific region that want to develop practical CSR strategies and effectively communicate to stakeholders. The conference will feature over 20 interactive break-out sessions, more than 50 regional speakers, and five pre and post-Summit training sessions. More information can be found here.
